S&P - Índices de Renta Variable de América Latina: Comentarios del tercer trimestre de 2020

En general, las acciones latinoamericanas se mantuvieron estables (-0,2%) en dólares, según la medición del S&P Latin America BMI, un índice regional amplio diseñado para medir el desempeño de 289 acciones de Brasil, Chile, Colombia, México y Perú. Sin embargo, el S&P Latin America 40, que representa las 40 acciones más grandes (por capitalización de mercado) y más líquidas, cayó 2.0% en el trimestre en medio de los continuos estragos causados por el COVID-19 en la salud pública y la economía local.

En el frente económico, los analistas de S&P Global Ratings informaron recientemente<sup>1</sup> que América Latina está en medio de una recuperación. No obstante, el pronóstico del PIB en 2020 para todos los países de la región seguirá siendo el de una contracción. Debido al importante volumen de exportaciones a China y a los confinamientos menos estrictos, la contracción económica de Brasil será menos severa de lo que se había proyectado originalmente, mientras que otros países como Argentina, Colombia, México y Perú estarán peor de lo esperado. Por su parte, Chile se encuentra bien encaminado. Muchas variables afectarán la profundidad y velocidad de la recuperación a medida que los países intentan salir de la peor pandemia en más de 100 años.

A nivel de sectores, Tecnologías de la Información, Materiales e Industrial fueron los ganadores del trimestre con rendimientos positivos de 19.1%, 15.2% y 8.3%, respectivamente. Los peores resultados correspondieron a Energía, Servicios de Utilidad Pública y Finanzas, que cayeron 9.1%, 6.8% y 6.4%, respectivamente.

La economía de Argentina es una de las más perjudicadas de la región, pero los economistas esperan que el tercer trimestre de 2020 sea el comienzo de su estabilización gradual.<sup>2</sup> S&P Global Ratings ha elevado la calificación del país basándose en una nueva propuesta de reestructuración de su deuda a fin de evitar otro incumplimiento de la deuda soberana. El S&P MERVAL subió 7% en pesos argentinos durante el trimestre, período en que el S&P/BYMA General Construction Index lideró los resultados a nivel de sectores (alza de 42.5%). Las mayores pérdidas provinieron del sector de Energía (-8.9%).

El mercado brasileño de valores prácticamente no tuvo variaciones: el Índice Brasil 100 (IBrX 100) y el S&P Brazil BMI presentaron resultados de 0.0% y 0.7%, respectivamente. Este puede ser un primer paso en la dirección correcta, ya que la economía del país<sup>3</sup> se recuperó durante el tercer trimestre, impulsada principalmente por el aumento de la demanda en las exportaciones de commodities y alimentos. No es sorprendente que al S&P/B3 Momentum Index (alza de 8.5%) y al S&P/B3 High Beta Index (aumento de 5.9%) les haya ido bien. Estos índices de smart beta están diseñados para medir el desempeño de las acciones, teniendo en cuenta la sensibilidad del mercado y sus movimientos. Asimismo, el S&P/B3 Ingenius Index (alza de 21.0%) continuó generando rendimientos extraordinarios en medio de la pandemia, beneficiándose del desempeño de acciones tecnológicas.

Chile no sólo está luchando contra la pandemia, sino que también atraviesa un posible cambio político considerable con el próximo plebiscito para generar una nueva constitución. Toda esta incertidumbre mantiene al mercado de valores en números rojos y provocó una caída de 8.1% del S&P IPSA en el tercer trimestre. Los economistas de S&P Global Ratings, sin embargo, han sido más optimistas en cuanto a una rápida recuperación económica en Chile, dado el “fuerte apoyo del gobierno a los mercados laborales y a las empresas”. El punto más destacado de Chile estuvo en el sector minero, donde el S&P/CLX Natural Resources Index subió 9.6% en el trimestre.

Colombia y el Perú generaron resultados sólidos. El S&P Colombia Select Index avanzó 7.3% en el trimestre. Entre los índices de acciones peruanas, el S&P/BVL Peru Select 20% Capped Index tuvo el mejor desempeño (alza de 9.3% en nuevos soles peruanos y 7.4% en dólares) en el tercer trimestre, ayudado por los altos rendimientos del sector minero, lo que se vio reflejado en el rendimiento de doble dígito del S&P/BVL Mining Index (alza de 20.6% en nuevos soles y 18.5% en dólares).

Los principales índices bursátiles de México se mantuvieron estables en general en el tercer trimestre, período en que el S&P/BMV IPC cayó 0.7%. La excepción fue el S&P/BMV IRT MidCap, que subió 10.1% en el mismo período. Al observar los índices sectoriales, se repite la historia de Chile y Perú, ya que el sector minero en México proporcionó el mayor rendimiento y el índice S&P/BMV Sector Selectivo Materiales avanzó 17.3%. En otras industrias, las FIBRAS en México tuvieron un fuerte tercer trimestre con rendimientos de 5.9%, reflejado en el S&P/BMV FIBRAS Index. Al igual que en el caso del S&P/B3 Ingenius en Brasil, el S&P/BMV Ingenius Index aumentó 12.0% durante el trimestre y acumuló 56.6% en el año (YTD).

All information presented prior to the index launch date is back-tested. All information presented prior to an index's Launch Date is hypothetical (back-tested), not actual performance. The back-test calculations are based on the same methodology that was in effect on the index Launch Date. Complete index methodology details are available at www.spdji.com.

S&P Dow Jones Indices defines various dates to assist our clients in providing transparency. The First Value Date is the first day for which there is a calculated value (either live or back-tested) for a given index. The Base Date is the date at which the Index is set at a fixed value for calculation purposes. The Launch Date designates the date upon which the values of an index are first considered live: index values provided for any date or time period prior to the index's Launch Date are considered back-tested. S&P Dow Jones Indices defines the Launch Date as the date by which the values of an index are known to have been released to the public, for example via the company's public website or its datafeed to external parties. For Dow Jones-branded indices introduced prior to May 31, 2013, the Launch Date (which prior to May 31, 2013, was termed "Date of introduction") is set at a date upon which no further changes were permitted to be made to the index methodology, but that may have been prior to the Index's public release date.

Past performance of the Index is not an indication of future results. Prospective application of the methodology used to construct the Index may not result in performance commensurate with the back-test returns shown. The back-test period does not necessarily correspond to the entire available history of the Index. Please refer to the methodology paper for the Index, available at www.spdji.com for more details about the index, including the manner in which it is rebalanced, the timing of such rebalancing, criteria for additions and deletions, as well as all index calculations.

Another limitation of using back-tested information is that the back-tested calculation is generally prepared with the benefit of hindsight. Back-tested information reflects the application of the index methodology and selection of index constituents in hindsight. No hypothetical record can completely account for the impact of financial risk in actual trading. For example, there are numerous factors related to the equities, fixed income, or commodities markets in general which cannot be, and have not been accounted for in the preparation of the index information set forth, all of which can affect actual performance.

The Index returns shown do not represent the results of actual trading of investable assets/securities. S&P Dow Jones Indices LLC maintains the Index and calculates the Index levels and performance shown or discussed, but does not manage actual assets. Index returns do not reflect payment of any sales charges or fees an investor may pay to purchase the securities underlying the Index or investment funds that are intended to track the performance of the Index. The imposition of these fees and charges would cause actual and back-tested performance of the securities/fund to be lower than the Index performance shown. As a simple example, if an index returned 10% on a US $100,000 investment for a 12-month period (or US $10,000) and an actual asset-based fee of 1.5% was imposed at the end of the period on the investment plus accrued interest (or US $1,650), the net return would be 8.35% (or US $8,350) for the year. Over a three year period, an annual 1.5% fee taken at year end with an assumed 10% return per year would result in a cumulative gross return of 33.10%, a total fee of US $5,375, and a cumulative net return of 27.2% (or US $27,200).
